

Wild swings in Polar Regions La Nina winters

The arctic region is subject to extremes of temperatures, with both long spells of record cold and warm spikes. Whenever warm spikes occur, the pseudo-scientists and the environmentalists in the media pounces and blames it on their favorite culprit-man made climate change.

See the Fairbanks daily temperatures the last two winters

